

Remote work

Swipe →

01

Remote work is the practice of working at or from one's home or another space rather than from an office or workplace.

02

It became more common in the 1990s and 2000s, facilitated by internet technologies such as collaborative software on cloud computing and conference calling via videotelephony.

03

Bloom believes quickly progressing technology has facilitated and will continue the trend, but drawbacks for some kinds of positions will remain.

04

In the Netherlands, the Flexible Working Act allows workers to submit a written request to work from home, at least partly.

05

Remote work allows employees and employers to be matched despite major location differences.

06

The technology available for remote communication does not fully replicate the nuances of face-to-face interactions.
